

BOARD OF GOVERNORS

ABOUT THE BOARD:

The Radiation Safety Institute of Canada is a self-governing organization. Overall authority and responsibility rest with its Board of Governors.

The Board of Governors is an independent body. No organization, government or agency has any right of representation on the Board.

The Board of Governors is also, by policy, a multi-partite body. The Board seeks and maintains representation from the three traditional sectors of industry, government and labour.

To this traditional triumvirate is added a key fourth group of independent and experienced people who have no personal or corporate interest in the outcome of Board discussions.
